shes respectable..next is MARS ATTACKS, arguably tim burtons last real film..where she holds her own against glenn close and jack as their daughter..so much is going on in this film that really no one really makes an impression, which i think is the point..everyone is playing an outdated overblown stereotype, and if thats the case, she brought her A-GAME.after her born to play role on broadway of anne frank, she played whats-er-name in THE PHANTOM MENACE..oooh a dual role..say what you will of the film and the wooden delivery of the lines..she looks great in the kabuki costume..natalie has to eat toodidnt see ANYWHERE BUT HERE or WHERE THE HEART IS..so we dive into ATTACK OF THE CLONES..yikes..ok ok she doesnt get to wear the kabuki costume anymore and goes for a more natural look..the lines are stiff still...dont worry i think it gets better with..COLD MOUNTAIN..another ensemble piece and damn even she looks luscious as a civil war widow (?) who takes in jude..this film is great and works suprisingly well..and natalie does great in a small part..GARDEN STATE..officially her first manic pixie muse role..i will say for the record that i hold no ill will towards zach braff but i think i exclusively wrote and directed this film so he could hook up with natalie..all in all its good, but an introverted mope fest.with a giant gasp of relief, natalie chose to star in CLOSER..a powderkeg of a film and i really cant tell whos side im on in that film..damn shes so cute in this film...and her acting chops FINALLY earned her a nomination..all around a great film, just not one you wanna watch a lot.REVENGE OF THE SITH..she finally cashes her last paycheck for her role as a doomed wife of lil ani the best of the bunch, acting wise...V FOR VENDETTA was good but i noticed in this film that my girl needs to eat more starches
